

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Quite a number of Richmond people are going to Fauquier County to-day to attend the wedding of the daughter of Miss Mary Webb Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander Carter, and Robert Bland Beverley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beverley, of "Blanchfield," Essex County. The ceremony is to take place at "Meadow Grove," the Carter home near Marshall, and will be followed by a large reception, to which several hundred guests have been invited. Some of the Richmond people to attend are Judge and Mrs. R. Carter Scott, Misses Fannie and Ellen Beirne Scott, W. Webb Beverley, Mr. and Mrs. Carter Beverley.

At "Royal Orchard."
Mr. and Mrs. Frederick William Scott and their children, who have been at "Royal Orchard," their country estate in Albemarle County, since the first week in August, expect to remain there until late in the winter, before opening their town house on West Franklin Street for the season. Misses Isabel and Elizabeth Scott will return to Richmond some time in October, where they will be the guests of their grandmother, Mrs. A. Sidney Buford.

Younger Set Entertained.
Wayman Cabell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Landon Cabell, entertained last night at a house dance at the Cabell home, 211 West Franklin Street. Decorations were in bright autumn flowers, and the guests included the fashionable girls and boys in Richmond.

Back From Danville.
Mrs. T. Ashby Miller, of "Hewittwood," Westhampton, has returned from Danville, where she has been the guest of her aunt, Mrs. E. H. Miller. Mrs. Miller was in Danville to greet Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Miller, who reached that place on September 15, after an eight months' stay abroad. Dr. Miller, who is a prominent surgeon and a member of one of the oldest families in Danville, was married in January to Miss Elizabeth Noel, who is most pleasantly remembered in Richmond, where she has visited friends and relatives. She is noted for her beauty and charm of manner, and the weeks preceding her marriage to Dr. Miller were crowded with handsome affairs given in honor of her and her attendants.

Returned to Richmond.
Miss Zella Minor returned to the city, after spending the summer in Blacksburg, and is now staying with Mrs. Burke at 117 East Franklin Street. Miss Jane Minor will spend several months in Philadelphia this season as the guest of Mrs. J. W. Robins, at 2115 Pine Street.

Approaching Wedding.
Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blair Dillard have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Katherine Alexander, to Frank Woodson Robertson, the ceremony to take place on October 2 at 9 o'clock, at the Presbyterian Church, Salem.

The marriage will be one of the most brilliant events of the autumn season. Many charming entertainments will be given in honor of the bride.

Miss Dillard is a very attractive girl, and will have her sister, Miss Roxie Dillard, as her maid of honor.

Mr. Robertson is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. P. P. Robertson, of Salem. He is a member of the firm of Boxley Brothers.

The bride-elect has several times visited in Richmond, and has many friends here interested in her approaching marriage.

Engagement Announced.
Mrs. Mary H. Goodwyn announces the engagement of her daughter, Mildred, to Clarence Gastay Lott, of this city. The marriage will be celebrated some time in the latter part of November.

Miss Gilliam Entertained.
Miss Rhodella Burnette entertained at her home near Oak last Friday evening in honor of Miss Lorine Gilliam, of this city. The house was decorated throughout in autumn leaves and flowers, and music and games amused the guests until supper was served, at 11 o'clock.

In Chicago.
Mrs. C. E. Miesse, of Rogers Park, entertained a number of guests at cards last Wednesday night in honor of it. A. Patterson, of Richmond, who is now visiting in Chicago.

Mr. Patterson expects to return to his home here some time shortly, after his visit to the West.

Invitations Out.
Invitations have been received in Richmond for the marriage of Miss Janet Thorne Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John William Alexander, to Dr. Raymond Hanger Dunn, the ceremony to take place on the evening of Thursday, October 9, at the home of the bride's parents, "Virginia Manor," Edgewood Drive, near Charleston-on-Kanawha, W. Va. Only the nearest relatives and a few intimate friends will witness the ceremony, and the reception following at 9 o'clock will be a very brilliant and handsome affair.

Dance This Evening.
The fourth of the series of dances given this month at the Jefferson Club

Dunlop Flour
IT'S MADE IN RICHMOND
The Dunlop Mills, Richmond, Va.

The St. Clare Millinery Announces Its First Showing of Fall and Winter
Hats and Bonnets
Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, September 23rd, 24th, 25th, 1913.

J.B. Mosby & Co.
Special display of new merchandise of all kinds during Fashion Week.

"The South's Greatest Specialty Store"

Kaufmann & Company

Invite the Attendance of the Public to Exhibits of Correct Fashions for the Fall and Winter Season, 1913-14

Fall Fashion Show Opens To-Day

Millinery, Gowns, Wraps, Furs, Tailored Wear, Blouses, Junior and Children's Apparel

Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, September 23, 24, 25, and 26

Your Attention is Directed to Our Window Display—a Remarkable Combination of the New Fashions and Windowcraft.

will be held at the clubhouse on West Grace Street this evening. The club issued invitations for a number of informal dances to take place each Tuesday evening in September, and they have proved most charming and interesting affairs. Decorations this evening will be in slender vases of yellow flowers, and an orchestra will play for the dancing.

In and Out of Town.
Mr. and Mrs. Morton Riddell, of Jacksonville, Fla., are guests of Dr. and Mrs. Meade Mann.

Mr. Andrew Jackson Montague has returned to the city, after a short visit to Mrs. James P. Woods, in Roanoke.

John Grasty Covington, Jr., who has been a guest at the Executive Mansion recently, has returned to his home in Danville.

Dr. and Mrs. James Philip Roy have recently moved into their home at 312 West Grace Street.

Mrs. T. W. Wood, of Oakland, Forest Hill, who has been spending the summer at Atlantic City and in the mountains of Virginia, has returned to her home for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Harrington have moved into their new residence, 2905 Grove Avenue.

Miss Maria Adkins has returned to the city, after a visit to Miss Virginia Ellington, near Gordonsville.

Miss Anne Keith Royall, who has been in Warren for some time past, expects to spend the winter in New York.

Mrs. Landon H. Mason has returned to her home here, after spending the summer in Maine.

Mrs. W. T. Leake and her daughter, Miss Beverly Leake, of Birmingham, Ala., who have been guests of Mrs. R. E. Peyton, Jr., have gone to Sweet Briar College.

Mrs. E. M. A. Waller, of Baltimore, arrived here this week to spend some time visiting relatives.

Mrs. L. W. Wright, of this city, and Miss Pickett Waller, of Widewater, who have been visiting in Alexandria, are now guests of friends in Fauquier.

Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Woodward are at their home, 1500 West Avenue, after spending the summer at the Old Sweet Springs.

Miss Virgilia Atwood, of Appomattox, and Mr. and Mrs. Jeter Palmer, of Norfolk, are guests of Jacob Springer Winsten, of 7 West Main Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Watkins are now at 605 West Grace Street, where they expect to spend the coming winter months.

Bishop Collins Denny, of this city, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Schofield, at their home in Danville.

Thomas Haskins, who has been visiting friends in Roanoke, has returned to this city.

Miss Irene Bluford has returned to Richmond, after being the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Robert M. Boyd, in Norfolk.

Rock-Lewis.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Fredericksburg, Va., September 22.—Alton B. Rock and Miss Orpha Estelle Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Lewis, of Lancaster County, were married at the home of Mrs. W. A. Lewis, at Farnham, in the Northern Neck, Rev. Charlton Kidd performed the ceremony.

Engagement Announced.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Fredericksburg, Va., September 22.—Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Pendleton, of Washington, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Rust Pendleton, to Thomas Fitzhugh Knox, of Fredericksburg. The marriage will take place early in November, in the Westmoreland Apartments, in Washington.

Sentenced to Roads.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Bristol, Va., September 22.—Strangers, all young men, giving their names as Joe Willy, Howard Shafer, A. E. Murdock and Herbert Siman, arrested here to-day charged with breaking into a freight car and stealing a quantity of whiskey, a part of which was drunk on the way here in a freight car, were given three months each on the county roads by Mayor Warren. A searchlight and other suspicious implements were found on them, it is said.

Platform Question Before People.
Republicans Want Them to Vote Their Desires as to Enabling Act.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Bristol, Va., September 22.—The Republicans of the First Senatorial District, including the Counties of Smyth and Washington and the city of Bristol, met at Abingdon this afternoon and nominated L. P. Summers, former collector of internal revenue, for Senator. The same delegates, with Smyth County eliminated, nominated A. Gray Gilmer, of Bristol, and Dr. John Remine, of Holston District, to represent Washington County and Bristol in the House of Delegates.

Both conventions were well attended and harmonious, and the same platform was adopted by both. The platform differs from that adopted by the Democrats of the district on the whiskey question. It declares for local self-government in all matters, and, instead of declaring in favor of a State-wide enabling act direct, declares in favor of first submitting this question to a vote of the people to ascertain whether or not the people desire such an act. Mr. Summers addressed the convention, giving his views upon many of the more important State issues.

The platform condemns the Abingdon whiskey dispensary, and calls for a vote upon the question of its abolition, pledging the candidates to support a measure to submit it to a vote of the county if Abingdon fails to vote upon the question.

A. L. Robinson presided over the convention to nominate candidates for the House, and S. C. Baumgardner served as secretary. John L. C. Anderson, treasurer of Smyth County, was elected chairman of the senatorial convention, and Vernon C. Barker, of Washington County, secretary. Mr. Barker placed Mr. Summers in nomination, and seconding speeches were made by George Cook, Commonweal accepted, and Gilmer made a speech defining his views on State issues.

The Democrats recently nominated the following candidates, who will oppose the Republican nominees: For Senate, Frank P. Buchanan, of Marion; for the House of Delegates, A. J. Huff and Rev. E. C. Buck, both of Washington County. The Republicans cheerfully accorded Bristol one of the nominees for the House, knowing of the dissatisfaction of the Bristol Democrats in being ignored in the recent Democratic county convention.

To-Day Ushers in The Thalheimer
Fall
Fashion Show

And we extend to all a welcome invitation to view the many beautiful imported models on display, representing as they do the final judgment of leaders in the world of fashion.

Thalheimer's
BROAD AND FIFTH STS.

Join me in a cup of refreshing Ridgways Tea

England's favorite for over 70 years
C. W. ANTHIM & CO. DISTRIBUTORS MADE FROM GOLD MEDAL FLOUR.

ATMOR
RAISED FROM FLEISHMANN'S YEAST.

DO NOT MAKE ONLY ONE
ANSWER TO EACH PICTURE

In the $1,200 Booklovers' Contest If You Locate More Than One
Likely Answer.

Many contestants, in letters to the Booklovers' Contest Editor, tell how they have used their ingenuity to see good effect that they have found several answers to each one of the pictures.

"Please," explain that provision in the rules, some of them ask, "which states that as many as ten answers may be made to each picture?"

Well, that clause in the rules seems simple enough. It means exactly what it says: that contestants may submit

SAKE MADE OFFICIAL DRINK OF JAPANESE

At Banquets It Takes Place of Champagne and Foreign Wines.

BY LA MARQUISE DE PONTENVOY.

AMONG the many extraordinary manifestations of patriotism, is which finds expression in the selection of food, and more especially of drink. Thus, Prince Tokugawa, president of the House of Lords of the empire of Japan, and son and heir of the last of the Tycoons, has secured a decision from his court and government that in future the national beverage, sake, brewed from rice, shall take the place of champagne and of other foreign wines at state and official banquets and entertainments. The members of the House of Lords, and principal dignitaries of the empire, have also joined in the movement organized by Prince Tokugawa, and have pledged themselves to serve nothing but sake, and to banish foreign wines in their private hospitalities.

There is no cause for any rejoicing on the part of the friends of the cause of temperance in this movement, for sake has far more than its equal in properties than any foreign wine that I can think of. Moreover, the Japanese, who are not the most temperate race of the Orient, may be encouraged by Prince Tokugawa's movement to believe that this more their national beverage they consume the greater their patriotism. Sake has, also, this disadvantage, that, like American applejack and Irish whiskey, it promotes, not only cheer, but extraordinary pugnacity.

It may be recalled that when Emperor William first came to the throne, he was also smitten with this form of false patriotism, and not only insisted that all the menus of his entertainments should be written in German instead of French, but also that nothing but German wines should be served at his table. Old Prince Bismarck, however, resolutely declined to touch German champagne even when urged to do so by his sovereign, declaring that, while his patriotism governed both his head and his heart, he would not permit its sway to extend to his stomach.

Eugene Aram has been the theme of so much popular romance, in verse, in prose and on the stage—most of my readers are undoubtedly acquainted with Thomas Hood's "Legend of Eugene Aram," and with Bulwer Lytton's novel on the subject—that it will come as a shock to people in America to discover that in lieu of having been the victim of a judicial error and something akin to a martyr, he was on the occasion of his execution, even when urged to do so by his sovereign, declaring that,
while his patriotism governed both his
head and his heart, he would not permit its sway to extend to his stomach.

It ever any man deserved the fate which overtook him, it was Eugene.
Armed with a sword, who on Friday day, August 2, 1759, was sentenced by Justice Noel, at the York Assizes, to be hanged on the following Monday.
August 6, and his body to be hanged in chains upon Knaresborough Forest, near the town of Knaresborough.

That those who, during the past century and a half, have shed tears over the fate of the gentle usher, dragged by the myrmidons of the law from the tranquil seclusion of his quiet life, to be hanged at the gallows, and whose labors at Lynn, have wasted their pity, is shown by a remarkable exposition of the entire case, just published by Eric R. Watson, who has had access to many important documents bearing upon the matter in the possession of old Sir William Ingilby, at Ripley Castle, where Eugene Aram spent his early years and boyhood, his father, Peter Aram, having been a gardener of the Ingilbys on the Ripley Castle estate.

Eric Watson shows in a most lucid and unbiased fashion that, far from Aram having been convicted of the actual murder of Daniel Clark on the sole evidence of his accomplice, then Hoseman, his guilt was shown by many concurrent proofs and a number of the strongest circumstances.
Not the slightest doubt, according to Eric Watson, was ever entertained of Aram's guilt, until several generations had passed away. It was only then that men took the romantic figure of the novelist and of the poet for the unlucky reality—a criminal whose talents and literary abilities were only an aggravation of the cowardly murder and robbery for which he so justly suffered.

Ripley Castle, under the walls of which Eugene Aram spent his boy-hood, is within easy driving distance of the popular English thermal resort to Harrogate, and was the scene of that memorable encounter between the Lady Ingilby of the day and Oliver Cromwell—a scene portrayed by many an artist—and which shows how Cromwell, shortly after the battle of Marston, spent a night in the castle, half sitting, half reclining, on a couch in the hall, watched by Lady Ingilby throughout the lifelong night, with a

DO NOT MAKE ONLY ONE
ANSWER TO EACH PICTURE

In the $1,200 Booklovers' Contest If
You Locate More Than One
Likely Answer.

Many contestants, in letters to the Booklovers' Contest Editor, tell how
they have used their ingenuity to see
good effect that they have found several answers to each one of the pictures.

"Please," explain that provision in
the rules, some of them ask, "which
states that as many as ten answers
may be made to each picture?"

Well, that clause in the rules seems
simple enough. It means exactly what it says: that contestants may submit

one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine or ten answers to each picture. If you find two titles to the catalogue that, in your opinion, both seem to fit some one picture, or if you find two titles that seem to fit two different pictures, you may submit two titles as answers to that picture. Or if you find ten titles that seem to fit a picture fairly well you are privileged to submit those ten titles as answers to that picture. The Times-Dispatch is proud of this provision in the rules, and believes it is absolutely evidence of the fairness of the contest, which is being conducted by the Water Power Company and the owners of industrial plants, as the amount of water has been very much reduced during the drought.

Further than this, the rules state that incorrect answers must be a picture will not count against a contestant, provided that the correct answer is given at least once. In other words, you make five answers to picture No. 44,
and one of them is the correct answer, then the four incorrect answers will not count against you. This rule holds in all cases except in case of a tie in the number of correct answers submitted. Then the number of correct answers submitted in the picture with the least number of total answers will win.
Remember that according to the rules each answer you submit must be made on a separate picture and coupon.
If you make five answers to picture
No. 44, for instance, you must send five copies of picture No. 44, and make each answer on its separate picture and coupon. It is self-evident, of course, that the contestant submitting several likely answers to each picture increases his chances tremendously of getting the correct answer. If a contestant makes an average of seven answers to each picture, for instance, he has certainly increased his chances sevenfold of getting the correct answer to each picture.

Read to-day's contest announcement, and get into the game to-day. You can get all the pictures published this far free with the catalogue and Answer Book.

And with an Answer Book you can never need more than one copy of each picture, even though you make ten different answers to each picture.

ATMOR
RAISED FROM FLEISHMANN'S YEAST.

DO NOT MAKE ONLY ONE
ANSWER TO EACH PICTURE

In the $1,200 Booklovers' Contest If
You Locate More Than One
Likely Answer.

Many contestants, in letters to the Booklovers' Contest Editor, tell how
they have used their ingenuity to see
good effect that they have found several answers to each one of the pictures.

"Please," explain that provision in
the rules, some of them ask, "which
states that as many as ten answers
may be made to each picture?"

Well, that clause in the rules seems
simple enough. It means exactly what it says: that contestants may submit couple of pistols in her belt, ready to shoot him on the slightest provocation.

Her husband was at the time with the King. When her unwelcome guest took his departure on the following morning she intimated to him that if he had remained with his life, it had been entirely owing to his good behavior.

A feature that strikes the visitor on entering the grounds of Ripley Castle is the inscription carved over the lodge entrance, "Parlez au Suisse" to the dweller from the castle of the eighteenth century, when most of the great houses on the Continent and in England had Swiss hall porters or lodge keepers, and when most people belonged to the English great world spoke French as freely as English.

Ripley Castle has been in the possession of the Ingilbys since 1317, that is to say, for near 600 years, although the family can trace its decent even still further back, there have been several Ingilby baronets which have become extinct, owing to the necessity of going back to ancestors prior to the creation of these honors in order to find the next male heir to the title. Thus, the present baronetcy is the third, the first one, created by Charles I. in 1642, having become extinct in 1772, while that created in 1781 became extinct in 1894.
The present baronetcy dates from 1899.

The actual head of the family, Sir William Ingilby, is an octogenarian veteran of the Indian army, has as his eldest son, Captain William Ingilby, of the Scots Guards, married to Hilton, Alberta, a Russian, daughter and heiress of the enormously rich Lord Swansea, and succeeded two years ago to the title and estates—they include Harrington Hall, near Spilsby, in Lincolnshire—on the death of his elder brother, Sir Henry, who died in 1909.

The baronetcy was bestowed upon Admiral Sir Charles Douglas in 1774, for his feat in forcing a passage up the St. Lawrence and relieving Quebec at the time when it was closely besieged by the Americans. The second baronet was a vice-admiral. The third baronet, Sir Howard Douglas, was a general of the army, a distinguished officer of the Peninsular War, and Governor of New Brunswick.

Some one alone was a clergyman, and all the others were either naval or military officers. The fourth baronet, father of the present and sixth baronet, was General Sir Robert Douglas, who was in turn Governor of Jersey and Lieutenant-Governor of the Cape of Good Hope.

There is no property connected with the baronetcy. The late Sir Arthur left everything in his power to his three surviving daughters. Colonel Sir James Douglas, who makes his home at Carr House, Monkseaton, in Northumberland, has no children, and on his death the baronetcy will become extinct.

(Copyright, 1913, by the Brentwood Company.)

S. P. POWELL CANDIDATE.
As Independent, He Will Make Race for Legislature.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Fredericksburg, Va., September 22.— S. P. Powell, of Spotsylvania County, who was here to-day, stated that he expected to come out as an independent candidate for the House of Delegates from the district composed of the County of Spotsylvania and the city of Fredericksburg, in opposition to the Democratic nominee, W. S.
Embrey.

In the divorce proceedings brought by Mrs. Lucy Ryerson against her husband, Herbert Ryerson, the judge of the county court, Judge J. W. Ryerson, has allowed Mrs. Ryerson $5 a week and $25 for counsel fees, which Mr.
Ryerson is to pay. The judge has also allowed Mrs. Ryerson to remain in the residence and have the use of the yard and garden.

Terrible rain fell here yesterday, which will be a great benefit and bring the flow of water in the Rapahannock River to a normal level. Very low on account of the protracted drought, up to or above normal. This is good for the water power of the Water Power Company and the owners of industrial plants, as the amount
of water has been very much reduced
during the drought.

DO NOT MAKE ONLY ONE
ANSWER TO EACH PICTURE

In the $1,200 Booklovers' Contest If
You Locate More Than One
Likely Answer.

Many contestants, in letters to the Booklovers' Contest Editor, tell how
they have used their ingenuity to see
good effect that they have found several answers to each one of the pictures.

"Please," explain that provision in
the rules, some of them ask, "which
states that as many as ten answers
may be made to each picture?"

Well, that clause in the rules seems
simple enough. It means exactly what it says: that contestants may submit

one, two, three, four, five, six, seven,
eight, nine or ten answers to each
picture. If you find two titles
to the catalogue that, in your opinion,
both seem to fit some one picture, or
if you find two titles that seem to
fit two different pictures, you may submit
two titles as answers to that picture. Or
if you find ten titles that seem to
fit a picture fairly well you are privileged
to submit those ten titles as answers
to that picture. The Times-Dispatch
is proud of this provision in the rules,
and believes it is absolutely evidence
of the fairness of the contest, which
is being conducted by the Water Power Company and the owners
of industrial plants, as the amount
of water has been very much reduced
during the drought.

Further than this, the rules state
that incorrect answers must be a picture will not count against a contestant, provided that the correct answer
is given at least once. In other words, you make five answers to picture No. 44,
and one of them is the correct answer,
then the four incorrect answers will
not count against you. This rule holds
in all cases except in case of a tie in
the number of correct answers submitted. Then the number of correct
answers submitted in the picture with the least number of total answers will win.
Remember that according to the
rules each answer you submit must be made on a separate picture and coupon.
If you make five answers to picture
No. 44, for instance, you must send
five copies of picture No. 44, and make
each answer on its separate picture
and coupon. It is self-evident, of
course, that the contestant submitting
several likely answers to each picture
increases his chances tremendously of
getting the correct answer. If a contestant makes an average of seven answers to each picture, for instance, he
has certainly increased his chances
sevenfold of getting the correct answer
to each picture.

Read to-day's contest announcement,
and get into the game to-day. You can get all the pictures published this
far free with the catalogue and Answer
Book.

And with an Answer Book you can
never need more than one copy of each
picture, even though you make ten
different answers to each picture.

ATMOR
RAISED FROM FLEISHMANN'S YEAST.

DO NOT MAKE ONLY ONE
ANSWER TO EACH PICTURE

In the $1,200 Booklovers' Contest If
You Locate More Than One
Likely Answer.

Many contestants, in letters to the Booklovers' Contest Editor, tell how
they have used their ingenuity to see
good effect that they have found several answers to each one of the pictures.

"Please," explain that provision in
the rules, some of them ask, "which
states that as many as ten answers
may be made to each picture?"

Well, that clause in the rules seems
simple enough. It means exactly what it says: that contestants may submit

Diamond Rings

Of perfect quality and elegant settings.
Our Diamond Department is the most extensive in the South.

SCHWARZSCHILD BROS.,
Richmond's Leading Jewelers, Second and Broad Streets.

MEAT SUPPLY UP TO SMALL FARMER

Packers Agree That He Can Prevent Pending Famine in This Country.

GREAT RANCHES FALL OFF

By Each Raising Two Beef Steers a Year Situation Can Be